EXECUTIVE COACH

Executive Coach Specialising in Early-Stage Leadership Development

As a senior leader and executive coach, I focus on enhancing leadership capabilities in their early stages. I collaborate with organisations to cultivate confident and capable leaders during transitional periods, before performance, personnel, or cultural challenges arise.

My approach emphasises early intervention, practical leadership development, and equipping leaders with the necessary skills to effectively guide their teams in complex environments.

EXPERIENCE & PRACTICE

I bring more than 15 years of executive and senior leadership experience, supported by established coaching practice. My career has involved leading large, multi-disciplinary teams in demanding settings where leaders must stay calm, make thoughtful choices, and guide others with clarity.

My coaching approach draws on trusted frameworks and the belief that leaders already possess significant strengths. My role is to support clearer thinking, deeper insight, and behaviour change that lasts.

I work with growing and high-potential leaders to:

- Strengthen confidence and presence
- Expand self-understanding and judgement
- Uncover capability through reflection and accountability
- Turn new insight into everyday leadership behaviours

This combination of hands-on leadership experience and proven coaching helps leaders act with purpose and align their work with what matters most.
